

USER STORY

After the marketing team had a long and careful meeting with the client, since they were technically capable, they summarized the client's needs in a useful fashion:

Real estate agent would like to create an app/interface to share with clients where they can store/edit houses based on their address – since he would like to differentiate and provide extra user value to his clients.

1. Header:

The app should display his marketing banner across the top for client impregnation.

2. Body:

The app should be scalable to be used on phone – how ever many houses can fit reasonably on a screen with the picture of the house followed by main details:

Price

Sqft

Bedrooms

Bathrooms

Tax

Bonus – user has the ability to add multiple addresses that would likely not fit on mobile phone but on desktop so it can be complimentary and compatible.
